

YOUTH LYRICS

I understood at seventeen that High School-Love and Beauty Queens The fresh faced Youth of promises didn't have much intellect hope about a life unknown at 18 I was back alone

tears running down my Bambi eyes that was when I realized my Youth is yours so open all the doors back when I was seventeen I was living a confusing dream drink lemonade with ice and I'd eat raspberries with apple pie now at almost 20 years I wonder about future fears

A long forgotten innocence Reminding me of who I was

my Youth is yours so open all the doors my Youth is yours so open all the doors the doors the doors the doors longing for things unknown who we are is who we own back when I was seventeen I didn't know that I was free.